

The situation of the COVID-19 pandemic in China is rapidly deteriorating

Passengers from China

should pay attention to and cooperate with the following instructions:

- If you had a fever, dry cough, fatigue, shortness of breath, muscle pain, headache, sore throat, diarrhea, or loss of smell or taste (or abnormality) in the past 14 days, please proactively contact Taiwan CDC quarantine officers for health assessment and necessary testing.
- During your stay in Taiwan, please have a rapid antigen test when any aforementioned symptom develops. If the test result shows positive, please seek medical help (or arrange a virtual appointment) according to regulations.

Please take care of your and your relatives' health.
