

Support Program for Foreign HIV Patients

Receiving Medication Within 2 Years in Taiwan

Subsidized Services: HIV Treatment Medications, HIV Viral Load Testing, and CD4 Lymphocyte Testing

Eligible
Recipients

Foreign HIV Patients Must Meet All of the Following 3 Conditions:

1. Have been officially reported and diagnosed with HIV in Taiwan and possess relevant documentation such as an Alien Resident Certificate (ARC) or National Health Insurance (NHI) card.
2. Are required to pay out-of-pocket for HIV treatment (not eligible for subsidies under the Regulations Governing Subsidies for Treatment Expenses of HIV-Infected Persons).
3. Have no income, are students in Taiwan, or have a monthly salary below NT$48,000.

Individuals who do not have NHI coverage but meet the above eligibility criteria may also apply.

Required
Documents

What Supporting Documents Are Needed to Join the Program?

1. The most recent application for an ARC or NHI Card + proof of income (such as: pay slips, bankbook copies, bank transfer records or documents showing previous enrollment in Labor Insurance or National Health Insurance)
2. For foreign students studying in Taiwan, please provide a student ID or proof of enrollment.

Application
Submission

The Designated HIV Treatment Facility Will Evaluate and Assist the Individual in Applying for the Program

1. The designated treatment facility will assess whether or not the individual meets the eligibility criteria for the program. Once the individual signs the consent form, the facility will submit the application to the region's center for disease control under the Taiwan CDC.
2. After the region's center for disease control approves the application, the treatment facility will be notified and a logistics company will deliver the medications to the facility.

Treatment
Compliance

- Follow medical advice, attend follow-up appointments, continue taking prescribed medications and undergo regular HIV viral load and CD4 lymphocyte testing.
- Poor compliance with these guidelines will result in termination from the program.
